Roads crew back on the job

Members of the Anson, Hindon and Minden roads crew were back on the job Monday following a two week lay-off. The men returned to their jobs without the council finding funding to meet the costs of road maintenance in the municipality.

The eight men were laid off September 21 after the township council reviewed the budget figures for the department. At that time the roads maintenance budget was $40,000 overspent.

Talks have since been held with the Ministry of Transportation and Communications in an effort to have the provincial allotment for roads maintenance increased but, according to Reeve Sinclair Nesbitt, no definite answer has yet been received from the provincial authorities.

The decision to have the men return to work came at a closed meeting of the council last week. The reeve said it was not a decision that he necessarily agreed with, but indicated he would go along with the wishes of the councillors. The crew was ordered back on the job with instructions to carry out a number of maintenance and clean-up chores, using the equipment only when absolutely necessary. The men will also be pressed into service in other areas of the municipality, such as at the dump, where funds can be taken from another budget to cover the labour.

The reeve said there was no set time limit for the return to work.

Nesbitt said he still felt the Ontario government should carry out a needs study in the municipality to determine what the provincial contribution to the roads budget should be.

The reeve indicated that some negotiations with the provincial government had taken place since the dramatic lay-off over two weeks ago, but he refused to comment further for fear of jeopardizing any possible solution.

Return to work

Back on the job after a two week lay-off, members of the Anson, Hindon, and Minden roads crew were active in several locations in the village Monday. Road overseer Earl Kent, left, and Morgan Reynolds, look on as Max McKelvey and another workman attempt to clear a blocked culvert.

Cottagers seek property - township will not sell

The members of the South Bob Lake Cottagers' Association would like to get their hands on a piece of property owned by the municipality of Anson, Hindon and Minden, but the members of the council are reluctant to part with the land. A representative of the association, Fraser Rogers, appeared before the council September 26 to press their case.

The history of the land in question, known as block 'A' of a subdivision, has added to the confusion surrounding the land in question. When the subdivision on the shores of the lake was first established in 1955, a notation was made on the subdivision plan that block 'A' was to be for the exclusive use of the property owners in the subdivision.

In 1972 an offer to purchase the property was made to the owners. The asking price at the time was $9000 and a $900 deposit was placed by the potential purchasers. That deal was never completed, but neither the buyer or seller indicated any intention to withdraw from the agreement.

Earlier this year the potential purchasers, who are also landowners in the subdivision and members of the association, sought to get their deposit back. The owners of the property declined. To add to the confusion, in August of this year the present owners deeded the property to the township. The deed was registered at the land titles office and the municipality became the legal owner.

As the spokesman explained, if the potential purchasers had registered their agreement and the fact a $900 deposit had been made, it is unlikely the land could have been legally transferred to the municipality. Rogers told the meeting that since the transfer to the township had been registered before the agreement, the land legally belonged to the municipality.

Rogers argued however, that since the intention, when the subdivision had been established, was for the land to be for the exclusive use of the property owners in the area, that the council should agree to sell the land to the Bob Lake association. He said the group was willing to pay for the property. The spokesman said he felt it was unfair that the township, having just gained legal ownership to the property, should allow a 1979 situation to over-rule the intention as set forth in 1955.

Rogers said the members of the association wished to reduce public access to the lake by purchasing the property.

Councillor Doug Pritchard noted that the property in question provides access for ice fishermen in the winter. He said the municipality should retain ownership of the property to ensure that access.

Reeve Sinclair Nesbitt commented that the cottagers in the association have equal access to the property as do other members of the public. He said the land is for the use of all ratepayers in the municipality.

Councillor Stuart Brandon noted that the road to the property was still private. He said that while it as well had been deeded to the municipality, the road had not been assumed and therefore was not part of the township's road network.

The discussion ended with council adamant in their intention to retain ownership of block 'A'.

Behind the scenes

Following the puppet show Saturday afternoon at the Minden Municipal building, youngsters had an opportunity to talk with the puppeteers and get a first hand look behind the scenes. One of the animators, Karen Merrill, from the Deckhands, shows the youngsters the puppets following the program. The show was sponsored by the Minden Library and Regional Library services.

Hearing set for Oct. 29

A date has been set for the Ontario Municipal Board hearing into a subdivision at Minden Lake. The council of Anson, Hindon and Minden were told September 26 that the meeting would be held October 29 at the Minden Community Centre.

The subdivision had been developed with the provision that the area be zoned for seasonal residences only. However, in early September a delegation from the Minden Lake Ratepayers' Association appeared before council requesting that the zoning be changed to permanent residences only. According to an association spokesman, the request was made in an effort to reduce the number of boats on the lake.

The members of the council objected to the ratepayer request because the subdivision had already received their

FROM THE CHAMBER

By Bob Stinson

On Wednesday, October 17, at the Lindsay Campus of Sir Sandford Fleming College, all those engaged in business related to the tourist industry are invited to attend a one day workshop entitled simply "Your Future". The college, under the direction of Mr. Roy Polito, is anxious to work together with the industry throughout Victoria & Haliburton to find solutions to any problem areas that can be identified and explore what further role the college may have in assisting this industry. Representatives of both federal and provincial government agencies will be present and our members of parliament, and the legislature have been invited.

A special keynote speaker for this function is Anne Sargeant, the national sales manager for "Family Leisure World". This is the company that is presently building the one hundred million dollar recreation and tourist complex in Maple. They have done a lot of work in evaluating the tourist industry in Ontario and their plans will have a very definite direct and indirect impact on our area. This item alone on the agenda should make it worth while to attend.

There is no charge for this workshop but there is limited facilities so they have asked that those intending to attend register by phoning the Chamber at 286-1260 before October 9. The session runs from 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. and lunch is available at the campus cafeteria.

We appreciate the college stepping forth to assist us in this way and sincerely hope that our members will show their appreciation by participating.

Cross-country ski facilities

When Ray Woodward decided to move south he left a bit of a vacuum in the cross-country ski facilities when he also advised us that Woodland Ranch would not be carrying on with his endeavours in this sport. We are however pleased to report that the Haliburton Cross Country Club, along with John Killarn of "Proud to be me Travel Inc.", have quickly taken up the cross-country ski tour sanction and will now host that annual event on the trails that inter-connect between Glebe Park and Lake Kashagawigamog, on the weekend of February 23 and 24.

Pat Waddell at Haliburton Wildlife has also hastened to fill this vacuum by announcing this week that they will have more trails with better grooming for this purpose than ever before and that he has hired a professional instructor to help get the beginners started on track, as well as oversee the grooming operations. The base camp also now boasts a beautiful chalet facility known as the "Boiler Room" for apres ski.

In addition to all this, of course, this winter we will once again have the Inn at Sir Sam's open throughout the winter - and speaking of winter don't forget the Haliburton County Snowmobile Association Annual meeting at Minden Community Centre, Saturday, October 6 at 7:00 p.m.

Autumn fest

This past week-end was indeed a glorious one for colour throughout our county and we sincerely hope we have arranged to have most of the colour, plus a bit more held over for Thanksgiving week-end coming up. This is the last big week-end before we turn our thoughts to first hunting season, and then the winter season, and it shaping up to be a busy, busy holiday.

The recreation committee in Monmouth is hosting their annual "Autumn Fest 79" on Saturday, October 6 at the arena in Wilberforce featuring a genuine oompah band, which will entertain from 1:00 to 4:00 p.m. at the beer garden and from 9:00 p.m. to 1:00 a.m. for the dance. There is no admission charge in the afternoon and the dance is only $3.00 per person.

Throughout the day a delicious Smorgasbord will be available featuring a wide variety of delicious German food. From 10:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. a craft show and sale will also be operating with many items produced by talented local artisans on display.

In Minden, the Rotary Club are hosting an Oktoberfest dance at Minden arena on Saturday featuring Eddie Gresko and his Bavarian Bandits from 9:00 p.m. to 1:00 a.m. at a charge of $2.00 per person.

Chamber annual

Since our recent newsletter, orders are coming in fast for advertising and annual meeting tickets. We have on occasion run out of tickets to this big event, so make sure you have yours. The date is October 10 at the Stanhope Fire Fighters Hall. See you there!

Now that the busy summer season is past, it was a quiet week for Minden OPP.

The officers from the local detachment investigated five reportable and one non-reportable accidents in the seven day period ending September 30. The police also were called on for 103 general occurrences, four break-ins and three people were charged with liquor violations. The police also laid one charge of impaired driving.

Engine fire

The police were called to County Road number 6 in the West Guilford area September 25 in response to a car fire. The engine in a vehicle driven by Karlene Cooney of Haliburton, 26, caught fire causing $1000 damage. The fire was confined to the engine compartment.

Constable Boyd Jarvis investigated the incident.

Mischief

A vehicle parked at the Haliburton Legion September 28 took the brunt of vandal's wrath. The car, owned by Jerry Harrison of R.R. 2 Haliburton, had the left door kicked in and the paint scratched by an unknown individual. Police estimate the damage at $500.

The incident was investigated by Constable Brian Dunham.

Break-in Nearly $2000 in property was taken from a Boshkung Lake cottage sometime between September 16 and 23 according to the OPP. The cottage was owned by Donald M. Lloyd of Scarborough.

Access to the premises was gained through a window. Taken in the break-in was outdoor furniture, refrigerator, food, lights, antiques, a radio, clothing, sporting goods and a water pump.

Constable Mike Maher investigated the occurrence.

Pleads guilty

Charles David Shaw, 54, of Haliburton appeared in Lindsay Provincial Court September 27 and pleaded guilty to two charges.

The man had been charged with indecent assault last month and mischief, the result of a bomb threat to the Haliburton Legion last New Years Eve.

Judge G.F. Inrig sentenced the man to six months in jail on each of the charges. The terms are to be served concurrently.

CNIB starts local campaign

Ron Barr, Chairman of the Haliburton County Advisory Board to The Canadian National Institute for the Blind, announced today this year's campaign objective for Haliburton which is in the amount of $4,600.00.

This year's campaign puts special emphasis on the futures of blind and visually impaired Canadians, underlining that "With your help, a future can be bright, even without sight."

CNIB offers adjustment to blindness courses, mobility and orientation training, rehabilitation programmes, library services and a variety of support services for visually impaired blind people.

"CNIB is deeply involved in the well-being of over 32,000 blind and visually impaired men, women and children in Canada," explained Mr. Barr. "We are also committed to the prevention of blindness for all Canadians. Good eye care habits, early diagnosis and proper treatment can often prevent or arrest loss of sight before it becomes serious," Mr. Barr said.

"As 1979 is The International Year of the Child, CNIB is placing special emphasis on blind children and children who may lose sight as a result of disease or accidents," Mr. Barr said.

Education, research and public awareness are all part of CNIB's continuing efforts to assist visually impaired Canadians and prevent needless blindness.

"To help ensure that every blind or visually impaired person gets the assistance he or she needs to take an active part in society and to achieve the brightest possible future, CNIB needs the continued financial and volunteer support of this community," Mr. Barr said. CNIB would like to remind you that: "With your help, a future can be bright, even without sight."

approval as a cottage development. However, the council agreed to make the Ontario Municipal Board aware of the association's objections although the spokesman were told the township would intervene in any attempt to have the subdivision zoned for permanent residences.

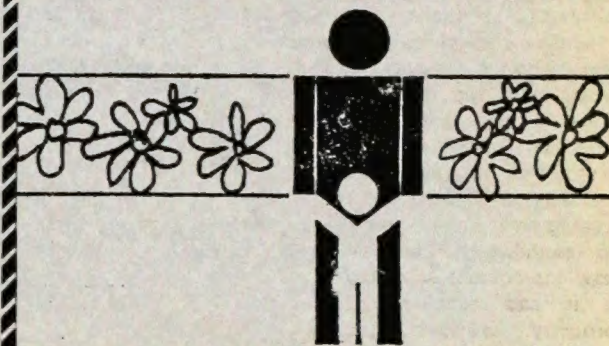

The meeting was told Wednesday evening that the developer of the subdivision, Elmer Hodsell, had retained a lawyer for the hearing later this month. They agreed to allow the lawyer to speak on behalf of the municipality at the hearing.

The council also requested that John McDermott, a senior planner with Totten, Sims, Hubicki Associates be requested to appear at the hearing to explain why the municipality wants the area to remain a seasonal zoning.

By-law rescinded-road to be blocked

The by-law passed earlier this year by the Anson, Hindon and Minden Township council, closing a portion of the road around the west shore of Twelve Mile Lake has been rescinded.

The action came at the September 26 meeting of the council and followed on the heels of complaints of close to 100 property owners on that side of the lake. They had objected to the manner with which the by-law had been passed, stating the municipality had not followed procedures as laid out by the Ontario Municipal Act.

The township had closed the former road, which exited from Highway 35 just south of the Twelve Mile-Mountain Lake bridge, taking traffic through the Hart Lodge property. A new road had been constructed to the rear of the Hart Lodge location, emerging on Highway 35 further south.

In addition to objecting to the methods used to pass the first by-law, the cottagers expressed their displeasure with the extra distance covered on the new road, particularly for vehicles travelling north.

In rescinding the original by-law the council conceded that it had been passed improperly. However, the council also indicated its intention to open the old road only as far as the point where it meets the new road. At that point the former roadway will be blocked by posts making it a dead-end street. This will allow residents adjacent to the Hart Lodge property access along the former road, while cottagers further west will still have to use the new road.

According to Reeve Sinclair Nesbitt, a by-law is not needed to create the dead-end.

Councillor Stuart Brandon questioned that statement and suggested the council obtain a legal opinion on the matter. He said he did not want to become involved in another confrontation with the property owners.

It was also suggested that if the council wanted to close the road, now that the by-law has been rescinded, the proper procedure could be started. The reeve said he felt such an attempt to pass a by-law would not be successful because of the opposition.

A permanent resident in the area, Mrs. Cooper, said she did not want to see the old road closed. She said the only reason the new road was built was so that gravel trucks from a pit near Twelve Mile Lake would not have to drive through the Hart Lodge property. She claimed the extra distance required by the new road would create a financial burden in purchasing extra gasoline for her car.

Nesbitt said the rocks and post blocking the road near Hart Lodge would be removed when the road crew is back on the job. The crew returned to work Monday.

Minden Women's Institute

On a sunny afternoon, the 19th of September, the Minden Women's Institute met at the Orange Hall at 2 p.m.

Verses, lively and sentimental, were read by the hostesses and 24 members and two guests were welcomed by President Mrs. Clare Brown.

The usual reports followed and Mrs. W. Moore reported sending 51 cards since our June meeting. Correspondence was read by Secretary, Mrs. J. Hulbig, and from this the President Mrs. Brown, was elected to attend the area convention at Royal York Toronto in November.

The District Craft afternoon will be held October 17 at Fenelon Falls United Church and members are asked to supply some items for our craft table, for sale or display. Collections were taken for card convenor and pennies for friendship.

Mrs. L. Dawson convenor of Family and Consumer Affairs gave an interesting paper on "Not so Much Salt" showing the contribution of salt to safe driving but also its contamination of fish and wildlife.

Mrs. Brown then called on Past President, Mrs. L. Cox, who presented a gift to Mrs. Dawson. She is soon to be leaving our village, and we wish her well in the future. Mrs. Dawson thanked us sincerely.

The meeting closed with God Save the Queen and W.I. Grace and a buffet lunch, tea and coffee was enjoyed by all.

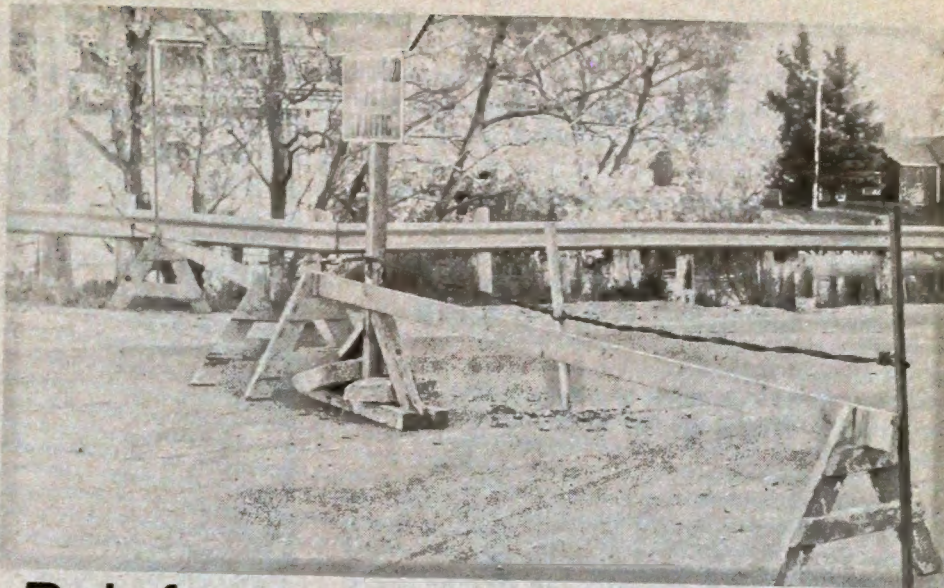

Please note, the next meeting will be a week earlier than scheduled on October 10 at the United Church Hall at 2 p.m.

Bus trip

On Wednesday September 26, 41 passengers boarded the Travelways Coach chartered by the Minden Women's Institute for the annual fall bus tour.

We left at 6:55 a.m. with Jim Tice at the wheel and enjoyed the scenery on the way to Stayner, stopping there for a coffee break.

Reinforcements

A newer and stronger barrier has been added to the old entrance to Deep Bay Road at the bridge in Minden. The road was closed last week with the intention of having residents use the new county road and connecting route at the pumphouse. However, some residents seem dissatisfied with the extra travel required and removed the portable barricades. The township has now installed metal posts and a wire cable in an effort to persuade drivers that the new route is the one to follow. The closing of both ends of Deep Bay Road was included in the agreement when the new county road was first designed.

to the Blue Mountain Pottery factory near Collingwood. After a well-conducted tour of the plant, everyone went to the showroom to make some purchases. Some of the members of the group went across to a mall to make additional purchases.

At Midland we stopped at MacDonald's for lunch. Then it was on to Saint Marie among the Hurons. We were shown a movie which outlined the history of the site and then were taken on a tour of the Jesuit village and Huron Longhouse.

Following the tour we returned to Midland for an hour's shopping, and then on through Muskoka with its glorious colour to Bracebridge for dinner.

We returned to Minden via the Vankoughnett Road. Everyone expressed their pleasure at the days events

Bountiful harvest

This is an excellent time of the year to reflect on just how bountiful life is here in Canada. It is the traditional Thanksgiving period when most Canadians take time to contemplate the bounty and beauty of nature. However, we feel there are other gifts and benefits for which the nation should be appreciative.

All too often it seems that Canada has become a nation of complainers. If it isn't the problems of inflation and unemployment that dominate conversations, it is concerns about social conditions or so-called catastrophes. A day doesn't go by when we hear from some source, (more often than not the culprit is the media) about how bad things are and how they are destined to get worse.

It sometimes appears that we have talked ourselves into a state of negative thinking. It is a state in which we not only look for the worst, but we expect the worst to happen. This negative attitude seems to create its own climate or environment in which our most dire predictions can flourish and come true. It is a self-fulfilling prophecy.

That, of course, is not to say that problems such as inflation, unemployment and all those woes that beset us as a nation and as individuals are not important. Indeed, they should be a matter of concern and the target of efforts to correct them. However, we should not allow these problems to dominate all our attention so that we lose sight of where we stand.

One need only compare our situation here in Canada with that experienced in many third world nations to realize how well-off Canadians are.

Most Canadians have access to adequate housing and food. Medical care is available for all. The standard of living and the quality of life is rated as one of the best in the world. And for those within our society who are unable to support themselves, there are various social programs available to meet their needs.

By comparison, in many developing nations the per capita income matches what many Canadians take home in their weekly pay packet. Disease and starvation runs rampant in some countries, fresh water is a luxury and medical attention does not exist.

Individually, and as a nation, we would do well to recall during this season, and throughout the year, that there is more to the meaning and spirit of Thanksgiving than the food on our plates. Not only do we enjoy one of the best standards of living, but we do so within a social system that allows its members the maximum amount of freedom.

We have a bountiful harvest in this country. Let us, this weekend, pause for a moment to realize how fortunate we really are.

Thus without grief the golden days go by,
So soft we scarcely notice how they wend,
And like a smile half happy, or a sigh
The summer passes to her quiet end;

And soon, too soon, around the cumbered eaves
Soft frosts shall take the creepers by surprise,
And through the wind-touched reddening woods shall rise
October with the rain of ruined leaves.

REPORT FROM QUEEN'S PARK

By John Eakins, M.P.P.

We are, of course, all becoming concerned about the cost of energy in Ontario. Prime Minister Clark's agreement in Tokyo to permit massive increases in oil prices could cause us even more problems in this connection. Premier Davis has responded with some proposals of his own.

In August, he released a paper entitled "Oil Pricing and Security: A Policy Framework For Canada". Behind that bland title lurks some shocking news for Ontario residents. The document is based on the premise of a $5 increase in the price of crude oil, occurring almost immediately.

The document notes the detrimental effects of a $5 increase on the Ontario economy, and proposes the establishment of a fund, the National Energy and Employment Adjustment Program.

What would be the effect of a $5 increase on the ordinary consumer in Ontario? It would add $120 to the average home heating bill. It would add 16 to 25 cents per gallon at the gas pump.

What would be the effect of a $5 increase on our economy as a whole?

According to the Conference Board in Canada, Ontario's economy is already extremely precarious without massive energy price hikes. A growth rate of 0.7% is predicted for Ontario in 1980, compared to 4.6% for Alberta. The jobless rate is expected to jump to 7.5%.

It is estimated that an increase of only $1 a barrel in oil costs would eliminate about 4,000 jobs in Ontario. According to a study undertaken by the Ontario Treasury in 1976, an increase of $2 would have significant negative effects and would damage the competitive position of fourteen major industries, accounting for 180,000 jobs. An increase of $5 a barrel would clearly throw our already faltering economy into a full scale recession.

Who gets the additional money from higher oil prices?

If the proceeds are divided in the current manner, most of the revenue goes to the oil companies and the producing provinces. A massive price increase would be necessary if the federal government is to obtain sufficient revenue to maintain a uniform price for oil across Canada.

Premier Davis has proposed that Alberta, the federal government and the petroleum industry keep their respective shares of the first $2 of his $5 increase and that the revenue from the remaining $3 be placed at the disposal of a National Energy and Employment Adjustment Program, which would then be used, amongst other things, to do some patchwork repairs on an Ontario economy which had been severely damaged by the $5 increase.

I hope to discuss this further in next week's column.

Trent-Severn news

On September 24, the storage remaining in the northern reservoir lakes was 49.1%. This was a drop of about 5% from 54.2% last week. The intervening time was one of the driest periods this year with evaporation from all the lakes in the Trent watershed averaging about 2.5 cm (1") over the week.

Construction and repair work are now being planned and has started in some areas. Flows from Hawk Lake will be shut off October 1 to 5 to aid in the Haliburton County bridge repairs. For this reason, a higher flow is being run this week, (Sept. 25 to 30) so that a more even distribution of the water will result next week. Residents on Twelve Mile and Horseshoe Lakes will probably notice a rise this week followed by a drop the following week.

In other areas, normal water control procedures for this time of year are continuing.

Letters Letters

Dear Editor:

With reference to the article on the front page of last week's paper concerning uranium mining in the Monmouth area. We would like to point out that the yield in Monmouth is not 1 1/2 per cent but 1 1/2 pounds of uranium per ton of rock which works out to only .075 per cent. After the uranium is extracted from the rock there are still pounds of radioactive tailings remaining as waste.

At a citizens meeting in Bancroft on September 1 we were the only ones from this area to emphasize the fact that the low grade uranium in this area is incapable of providing a long term economic boost. A few local jobs for a maximum of eight to ten years must be balanced against thousands of years of potential low level radiation hazard. An overwhelming amount of data shows there is no safe level of exposure to radiation and no dose of radiation is so low that the risk of malignancy is zero. Radiation may also cause genetic mutation and birth defects in future generations.

Even before the Bancroft meeting we had written to Ontario Premier William Davis requesting a Royal Commission of Inquiry into uranium mining in Ontario similar to the one being carried out right now in British Columbia. This inquiry would cover the protection of the health and safety of workers, the protection of the environment and the public. We feel that this inquiry is necessary in order to introduce strict controls over uranium mining in Ontario in the future. We wish to avoid such catastrophes as the increased incidence of cancer in the Port Hope region caused by exposure to uranium wastes as suspected by Dr. Levy of Peterborough, and the report from the Elliott Lake area citing 81 deaths from lung cancer amongst uranium miners there.

We must not rush into opening the Monmouth mines because of pressure from a new find in Saskatchewan, for we will only sacrifice our health and environment. Thorough, careful studies must be undertaken prior to the opening of any uranium mine, no matter how long it takes.

We are concerned that the people representing this area are not taking the time to give themselves a basic education on local issues that they are involved with concerning the environment. At the Bancroft meeting on September 1, Glen Hodgson representing the Haliburton County Economic Development Commission failed to mention anything at all even remotely connected with uranium mining!

Thanksgiving

The following message for this Thanksgiving season was prepared by Reverend David Barker of St. Paul's Anglican Church of Minden.

From the earliest times man has rejoiced at harvest. Not only in the Judeo-Christian heritage, but in all societies and religions there has been a celebration that the harvest has been plentiful. A spirit of genuine thankfulness pervades our Judeo-Christian heritage because we are aware that we do not need to appease an angry God with our celebrations, but thank the God who has blessed us because He has loved us.

God gave to the Israelites three main feasts to celebrate. One was tied to their deliverance from Egypt, the other two to harvest. The Israelites came to worship God with the first fruits of their harvest, and again when all was gathered in.

We have all experienced the anticipation as we watch our crops growing, waiting for the first delicious bite. Israel, aware that their harvest depended upon God's goodness, brought that first fruit to the Temple and offered it to God. Joyous celebration surrounded this event. Later, when all had been harvested, all was safely stored away, celebrations began again in the courts of God.

Israel's attitude to harvest sprang from God's original plan at creation. To Adam and Eve God gave dominion over all plants and animals. That dominion meant that Adam and Eve and all their descendants to this day can share in whatever the earth produces. Each appetizing fruit hanging from the vine brings to mind the many blessings of God which pervade all of creation. In harvest the awareness of God's gift is focused for us.

Through the sin of Adam and Eve, Paradise was taken away and man had to struggle to gain a living from the ground. God did not take away from man the fruit of the ground, He instead required man to work for it. The blessings of harvest indicate to us that God has not forsaken us altogether and although we no longer live in the Garden of Eden we are still under the providence of God. It is this assurance that God cares about us and loves us that is at the centre of our harvest rejoicing.

God used the harvest celebration to teach the Israelites. Out of the many offerings that were required at the Temple, some went to support the Levites who ministered in the Temple, some went to support the foreigners living with them, some to orphans, some to the widows and some to the poor.

Man was to learn that he cannot think of himself alone; those less fortunate are the responsibility of the wealthy. God wants to use our abundance to bring blessing to others, not just to have an equal distribution of food, but to create a loving community of people who care for each other.

Man must remember too that life is not to be all drudgery. When the Israelite brought his offering to the harvest celebrations he was to receive back a portion of his offering so that he could enjoy the feast. No one, rich or poor, citizen or foreigner, was to be excluded from the happy time of harvest. It is good and right to revel in the presence of God.

Times have changed. The majority of us no longer gain our living directly from the soil. Our first fruits are not measured in bushels. We live now in a global village that enables us to enjoy fresh produce from somewhere all year round. But the basic tenet of harvest festival still remains. We depend upon God for every single thing in life.

If God forgot us for one second, we would cease to be. And God has not forgotten, but rather his love continues to grant us every breath. The fruit at harvest reminds us that as our daily bread is supplied, so God's love is new to us every day. In response it is our joy to give thanks to God and to share our rich bounty with others.

Take heart this Thanksgiving. Rejoice in the goodness of God. Share with Him a thankoffering. Bless others with your bounty. And thank God for His love.

Now thank we all our God,
With heart and hands and voices,
Who wondrous things
hath done,
In whom his world
rejoices;
Who from our mother's arms
Hath blessed us on our way
With countless gifts of love,
And still is ours to-day.

Scattering the crispy leaves with my feet,
I walk briskly,
savouring the country
fresh air,
the touch of frost in the breeze.

Up through golden orange passageways of trees dressed to celebrate abundance,
I glance.

The sun winks
down, dancing on blushing branches and flooding my feet with gold.

I smile to myself
'Thanks, Lord'
I pray.

S. Barker

Thou shalt observe the feast of tabernacles seven days, after that thou has gathered in thy corn and thy wine:
And thou shalt rejoice in they feast, thou, and thy son, and thy daughter, and thy manservant, and thy maidservant, and the Levite, the stranger, and the fatherless, and the widow, that are within thy gates.
Seven days shalt thou keep a solemn feast unto the LORD thy God in the place which the LORD shall choose: because the LORD thy God shall bless thee in all thine increase, and in all the works of thine hands, therefore thou shalt surely rejoice.

Deuteronomy 16:13-15

While the earth remaineth, seedtime and harvest, and cold and heat, and summer and winter,
and day and night shall not cease.

SENIOR LEAGUE

by Linda English

We were very pleased when Bishop Allan Read of the Anglican Church dropped in for a visit Monday afternoon. He was very interested in the different items that the ladies were making in the crafts-room and he shared with us his good humor and experiences. We all certainly enjoyed his visit and look forward to seeing him again when he is in the area.

Tuesday morning, Rev. Don Nicholson of the Haliburton United Church was here to lead the service in the Chapel. Mr. Fred Ballard accompanied us on the organ while we sang our praises to God. The ladies of the Kinmount Baptist Church made our Thursday afternoon tea party a very delightful time. This was our Special Birthday Tea party, when we celebrate all the birthdays in September. Our guests of honour were Mrs. Isabella Eastman, Mrs. Elizabeth Smethurst, Mrs. Martha Kernohan and Mr. Frank Billings. Each was presented with a lovely corsage of fresh gladiolias. The ladies brought with them a beautifully decorated birthday cake, which was in the shape of a Bible. Together we sang Happy Birthday to these dear people and wished them many more happy years.

Letters from Lorraine

Lorraine Perry is a high school student from Ingoldsby who is spending a year in Belgium as an exchange student. The exchange is sponsored by the Minden Rotary Club. Her parents have agreed to share some of her experiences with the readers of The Times through the letters Lorraine sends home. The following are excerpts from a letter sent September 6:

I felt strange when I landed at the Brussels' airport. And I was scared to death that my luggage was lost ... I had forgotten to put my name on it...

My wait in London was not a wait but rather a period of walking from terminal to terminal, walking to gates and British Airways booths. It was not because I was lost, just the way the airport is set up. There were no other students on the plane that I could see. Luckily on both flights I had a window seat, because I had checked in early. I sat with a priest from Guyana and another man from India who started saying prayers everytime we took off or landed.

My average weekly diet is hard to explain. For breakfast, (usually) I have bread, cheese, meats and tea. For lunch, soup, meat, potatoes, vegetables, bread, dessert. For dinner spaghetti and salads. I have had more new foods...boiled apples, boiled grapes (as vegetables with the main course) tomatoes stuffed with shrimps and sauces. The French fries are delicious. They eat them with sauces, mayonaise, pepper sauce etc. I like it much better than plain salt and vinegar. By the way, I have gained two kg since I arrived (about 4.4 pounds).

The bomb in Brussels was a small one set off by the Irish Republican Army. 16 people were injured, but not seriously. The strange thing is that it happened at the "grand place" which is a popular tourist site. I was to go there the same afternoon as the blast but luckily my sister wasn't feeling well so we didn't go.

High school report

The following report from Haliburton Highlands Secondary School was prepared by the principal, T.B. Mosgrove.

Over the past few years, secondary school diploma requirements and post secondary opportunities have changed and if anything, become more complex. It is for these reasons that I have chosen to devote this newsletter to high school guidance services. In spite of changes, the principle function of guidance remains the same - to assist students and parents with the complexities of secondary school and post secondary school opportunities.

Guidance services in today's schools include personal/social guidance and educational/career guidance. Although there are guidance situations in which the two components function as separate services - as when a student is being helped with a problem of a purely personal nature - in the majority of cases they are so interrelated as to be aspects of one process. In helping a student shape his/her educational program, for instance, a counsellor must taken into account the student's personal interests, capabilities, and preferences, his/her social values and attitudes, and his/her basic career goals and aspirations.

This approach to career counselling places a new emphasis on the individual student and his/her particular needs, interests, and concerns. Today the old signposts - a university education, the roles prescribed by sex, the prevailing economic structure - are no longer fixed guidelines but elusive variables that reflect the changing demands of a technology-based society.

Counsellors are required to be responsive on many levels and to perform a variety of functions. Depending on the particular situation, they may be called upon to be part psychologist, part philosopher, part social worker, part friend. While it is true that counsellors are required to play all these roles at some time or another, it is important to remember that they do not accomplish this feat unaided, and almost never work alone. In every area of responsibility, their effectiveness depends on the contribution of a whole team of associates: the teachers, the principal, specialists in various areas, social workers, resource people in the community, and, last but not least, you the parent.

As an authority on your child - the person who is most intimately acquainted with his/her interests, aptitudes, and aspirations - you are one of the counsellor's most valuable resources. You can contribute your insights and perceptions, shed light on a personal problem, and, function as a source of encouragement and motivation. Without your participation, the counsellor's job is both more difficult and less productive. In short, your school's guidance services are most effective when you are an active member of the guidance team.

In conclusion, any effective secondary school guidance program will:

- assist your child to assess his own strengths and weaknesses, and to understand and accept himself.

- help your child to obtain information about schools, courses, and training programs.

- help your child to interpret the information about himself and to relate it to educational and vocational opportunities.

- encourage your child to develop the ability to solve his own problems and make his own plans and decisions.

but will not:

- tell your child what choices or decisions to make.

- decide his educational future for him.

- dictate to him.

- decide for him what occupation he should follow.

Any questions or concerns regarding secondary school or post secondary school programs are welcomed. Please call me at 457-2950; if I do not have the answers, I will make every attempt to find them.

Farm News & Views

The end of September marks the conclusion of the pasture season for cattle for another year.

The most important crop in many parts of Ontario - including Victoria & Haliburton Counties, is grass. The majority of this grass is harvested by cattle grazing it during the summer months, and converting the grass into beef and milk.

The lush grass growth of May, June and July produces optimum growth in young cattle, and optimum milk production from cows.

By August, the quality of the pasture is changing, and numerous tests have shown that rate of grain and milk production is cut in half during that month. This reduction in production continues through September.

By October first, the pasture quality is reduced to the point that livestock barely hold their own, and are actually losing weight during late October and early November.

Thus, starting on October first, farmers need to start providing supplementary feed to their cattle if they stay on pasture. Hay is the feed usually provided, and the amount required will increase during October and into November.

Several farmers in this area have cut some of their surplus pasture in mid-June, putting it up as hay in large round bales, and leaving them in the pasture field for the cattle to eat now.

Don't lose any of the good gains your young cattle have already made, or the ability of your cows to milk well, by under-feeding them with pasture only this fall.

Council briefs

From the September 26 meeting of Anson, Hindon and Minden Township council.

Council has agreed to allow the dumping of snow at the back of the funeral home parking lot. The owner of the property, Gord Monk, had approached council in September seeking the agreement. He wanted the agreement to clear up any misunderstanding in the minds of ratepayers.

At least one resident of the community complained to council about the matter saying that he felt the property was being cleared of snow free of charge by the roads crew.

Reeve Sinclair Nesbitt told the meeting that if the roads crew found it convenient to place the snow at the back of the parking lot, and if the owner was willing to allow the municipality to do so, that he could see no reason to object to the practice.

Park belt

The council took the first steps in establishing an approved park belt along the Gull River. A by-law was passed at the meeting endorsing the proposal.

The measure requires the approval of the Ministry of Natural Resources. If received, the municipality will be eligible for special funds under the Parks Assistance Act of Ontario.

Gasoline storage

Efforts will be made to locate an appropriate site for the storage of two barrels of aviation fuel in the Minden area. The fuel will be used for refueling the medical evacuation helicopter from Toronto when it lands here.

Last month when the helicopter was called here on an emergency, it had to fly to Bracebridge to refuel before returning to Minden for the patient. The refueling caused a delay in getting the patient to Toronto.

Council was concerned about the security needed for the volatile fuel and that it be stored in an easily accessible location. It was suggested that the fuel might be stored at the Ontario Hydro depot. This suggestion and others will be examined by the council.

Dock problems

The council is taking a second look at a request from Roy Windover to construct a dock along the banks of the Gull River. The council noted that the structure would protrude eight feet from the banks of the river. It was felt this would create too much of an impediment to traffic in the area.

The dock was to have been build east of Deep Bay Road near the new subdivision Mr. Windover is developing.

The council will take a first-hand look at the proposed location before agreeing to the structure.

Subdivision

The council also reviewed the progress of work in the Highland Gate Estates. A number of the 31 lots have been sold and requests have already been received for building permits.

The lawyer for the developer discussed the subdivision agreement with the councillors noting that most provisions had been complied with. The one main outstanding issue was the inspection of the roads by the Ministry of Transportation and Communications. Once the MTC has inspected and approved the roads, the municipality is expected to assume responsibility for them.

by Ron Reid of the Federation of Ontario Naturalists

Earlier this year, I discussed the far-reaching consequences of acid rain, which threatens the life in 48,000 Ontario lakes within ten to twenty years. Since then, a growing public recognition of the problem has fostered much concern, but no clear focus on what steps are necessary by government or individuals to deal effectively with this massive environmental crisis.

To help the public understand the causes and effects of acid rain more fully, and to search for steps towards a solution, twenty-two environmental groups from Canada and the U.S.A. are cooperating to sponsor a citizen's conference on acid rain. Known as ASAP - Action Seminar on Acid Precipitation - this two-day conference will be held in Toronto on November 2 and 3, 1979. If you are concerned about the fate of your cottage lake, or about the future of sport fishing or Ontario's wildlife, we invite you to attend.

A wide range of speakers will be available for your questions, including technical experts like Dr. Harold Harvey, the Toronto researcher responsible for much of the early work on the problem. Senior politicians including Harry Parrott, Ontario's Minister of Environment, and John Fraser, his federal counterpart, will also attend. Registration for the two days, including two lunches and a banquet, is $40 before October 19, with information available from the Federation of Ontario Naturalists, 355 Lesmill Rd., Don Mills, Ontario.

STANHOPE NOTES

by A. F. Stevenson

We are indebted to Mr. Wilbur Eaton of the Sherwood Forest Property Owners' Association for the following facts, which we pass on for the information of the friends and neighbours of the late Cecil and Jean Irwin.

Mr. and Mrs. Irwin were long time residents of Haliburton and the Carnarvon area where they operated the well known and prestigious Sherwood Forest Boys Camp at Beech River and Boshkung Lake from 1933 till 1967.

Due to failing health the Irwins subdivided the property into cottage lots and eventually the cottagers formed the Sherwood Forest Property Owners Association and assumed responsibility for the park area. The association members held Cecil and Jean Irwin in the highest esteem and, as a memorial to them, have constructed a rustic log shelter at the edge of the camp playing field, suitably identified by an inscribed plaque.

This memorial will be dedicated at a short service on Thanksgiving Monday, October 8, at 11:30 a.m. Residents of the area and friends of the Irwin family are invited to attend. We would add that there will no doubt be a number of former camp members who will take advantage of this opportunity to pay their respects to Mr. and Mrs. Irwin. We hope that nature will put on her best fall display for this occasion since both Cecil and Jean loved Stanhope and natures gifts.

They take to the lanes in two shifts on Saturdays, the first group at 9:00 a.m. and the second at 11:00 a.m. The groups meet at the Carnarvon lanes and there are still places open for school aged children. Any youngster interested in taking part should be in attendance this Saturday morning.

Bantam Kevin Cooper started the season off with a bang, scoring a 376 double...keep it up Kevin!

P.S.T. zone winners
The zone five pin Annual National League Championship roll-offs were held this past weekend in Fenelon Falls. Presidents, secretaries and treasurers from houses within the 1000 Lakes area were on the line Sunday afternoon.

The recently refinished lanes and new P.B.S. bowling equipment at the Fenelon lanes added to the enjoyment, and possibly some of the scores, of the day.

The winners in the treasurers division was Dianne Van Bakel of Bancroft, with Bev Rollings of Fenelon Falls runner-up. Judy Lavoy of Bancroft led in the secretaries division while Ron Robinson Sr. of Carnarvon was second. In the president's contest, Vi Johnson of Bancroft placed first with Angus Rupnow also of Bancroft second.

Along the Trails

by Roy Bates

The past year has seen some remarkable advancements in the snowmobiling picture. Most notable improvements are in the area of snowmobiler acceptance and recognition, by other recreations, by officialdom, and by the general public. But not every story is one of peaches and honey.

A year ago the land use planners of the Alberta government were fixing to ban all types of off-road vehicles from a very large sector of that province - the eastern slopes of the Rockies. I hesitate to suggest that I had anything to do with changing that plan but my long conversation with Alberta's chief land planner probably didn't hurt. The Alberta Snowmobile Association was finally successful in having snowmobiles excluded from the off-road vehicle restrictions. Recreational snowmobiling will continue on the eastern slopes.

A year ago in the United States a great deal of controversy had arisen regarding the use of snowmobiles in national parks, national forests and designated wilderness areas. An intensely strong lobby by environmentalists was calling for a complete ban of snowmobiling in these areas. Organized snowmobilers rallied to do battle with the result that the lines were held in all areas and substantial gains were made. New regulations issued by the U.S. National Park Service recognize snowmobiling as a viable form of transportation when snow cover interrupts normal vehicular access to a park.

Regarding possible damage to public lands by the use of off-road vehicles, both the U.S. Department of Defense and the Bureau of Land Management have stated that affected public lands will be closed only to the specific type of vehicle that is causing or will cause considerable damage. In future the snowmobile will be judged on its own merits - not on the effects of other vehicles.

A new provincial regulation in British Columbia requiring that all operators of motor vehicles on forest roads be licensed was amended to exclude snowmobiles when used on unplowed and inactive forest roads. The amendment was brought about through the quick action of the British Columbia Snow Vehicles Association who saw the regulation as detrimental to family snowmobiling.

When a planned highway extension was about to cut off five recreational trails in the Annapolis Valley, the Snowmobilers Association of Nova Scotia met with highway officials and a special underpass will be built.

In our own province the Ontario Federation of Snowmobile Clubs and the Ontario Snowmobile Industry Association combined their efforts to attack the inadequacies of public trail funding. Their new concept which is currently being studied by government would be far more supportive of club efforts and would triple the dollar value of the present program. Unfortunately, the new policy, whether it goes through as proposed or comes out as a watered down version, will not be in place in time to meet the requirements of this season.

Residents want beach

Residents of the Ingoldsby area would like the municipality to create a beach and boat launch at their end of Lake Kashagawigamog. The request was made to the Anson, Hindon and Minden Recreation Committee and passed on to the township council at the September 26 meeting.

The residents signed a petition endorsing the need for the facility. It was noted that the closest public boat launching ramp was quite a distance from the community.

The members of the citizen's group had suggested a location in the community of Ingoldsby, but by-law enforcement officer Dick Schell said the proposed site did not offer enough space for parking.

Stuart Brandon said the residents were not in favour of any one location, it was just that they felt a public beach

And now the thorns.

At a time when public funding of public trails has fallen off (the loss of Canada Works and Young Canada Works grants this year will have disastrous effects) it becomes abundantly clear that the government's policy of free trails for all leaves much to be desired.

The rapid growth of the recreation of snowmobiling in this province in recent years should have been attended by similar growth in snowmobile clubs. That it was not is largely due to that government policy. Why join a club when you can ride the club's trails for free? It's a question that I have given up trying to answer. If the success stories listed above have not demonstrated the importance of snowmobiler organization then I don't have the answer.

Haliburton County has prided itself for the past two years on having the largest and most active snowmobile club in Ontario. If it is to retain that position it must have the support of the entire community. Show your support at the general meeting October 6, 7:00 p.m. Minden Arena auditorium.

and boat launching site was needed at their end of the lake.

The council will examine the matter.

Extra clerk

The council also agreed to advertise for a part-time clerk to assist with the recreation bookkeeping chores. The meeting was told that, because of a shortage in staff and the problems created by vacations and illness, the bookkeeping for the recreation department was two months behind.

Councillor Lyle McKnight, referring to the problems with the roads maintenance budget, said that if the council wanted to keep abreast of expenditures, staff will have to be hired to maintain the records on a month to month basis.

The council agreed that the extra help was needed and the position will be advertised.

Visitors join turkey shoot

In addition to holding a very successful turkey shoot Sunday afternoon, the Haliburton County Marksmen Club played host to ten visitors from overseas.

The group of 75 local shooters were joined at the range north of Minden by 10 German tourists who were visiting in the area. The tourists had all handled firearms before but had not brought any with them. Members of the club lent the visitors their firearms so they could participate and a few of them showed their shooting ability by winning a turkey.

Bill Payne of the club reports the following marksmen won turkeys:

Trap: Pete Deller of Hall's Lake (2) Heather Paul of Gravenhurst; Mr. Liffler and Mr. Fleuthwedel, both of Germany; Steve Wrightman; Jim Sclosser and Gary Bradamore.

Pistol: Dave Shyler (3)

Mike Vuksic; Gerd Wanke of Germany; Brian Anderson; Wayne Coltman and his son Brent; Don Sclosser.

22 silhouette: Chris Lodenquai; Jim Coltman; Cliff Lacey; Gary Bradamore.

High Power rifle: Dave Robinson of Carnarvon and Gary Bradamore.

Junior shoot (18 years and under) 22 rifle: Les Booth; Eric Milburn and Don Sclosser.

The sound system for the shoot was provided by Rob Young of Minden.

The next major shoot will be the Kinsmen Club Turkey shoot scheduled for early November.

Scout news

Three patrols from Minden Scouts attended Operation Alert held at Vanderwater Conservation Area south of Tweed this past weekend. Scouters Ted Reid, Bill Beers and Dusty Sutherland accompanied the 10 boys to this annual scouting event. During the weekend, the boys participated in games of skill and Scoutcraft, each patrol striving to gain points in the 18 events.

Over 200 youths from Quinte region attended and one patrol from Minden, Carl Alexander, David Hulbig and Doug Schell, did extremely well, coming in third in the overall scout competitions.

The scouters report that all the Minden boys worked very hard and deserve credit for keeping First Minden Troop to the fore.

Other scouts attending were, Scott Millburn, Tim Beaver, Robert Bendekovics, Paul Aggett, Sean Saunders, Brian Mann and Stuart Hall.

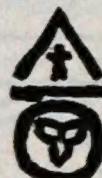

Apple day

Friday and Saturday of this week brings the annual Apple Day when members of the Scouting movement will be exchanging apples for your donations. Please support this very worthy cause, all monies collected by Beavers, Cubs, Scouts and venturers go towards the continuation of the Scouting movement in Minden.

Evangelist Barry Moore, has been attracting residents from throughout the county to the crusade meetings which started Sunday. The meetings continue all this week at the Minden Arena and will conclude with two meetings Saturday and Sunday evenings in the Haliburton High School.

Township will do repairs

The municipality of Anson, Hindon and Minden has agreed to be responsible for the repairs for the Minden Curling Rink, however the financial costs of the work will remain with the club. The council agreed to accept the responsibility at the September 26 meeting.

It was pointed out that while volunteer labour had been used in the past, there had been concern expressed in the case of an accident. If the township employees were used to carry out the work the normal compensation and insurance coverage would be in effect.

The roof of the rink had been deemed unsafe by the Ministry of Labour, but activities at the building have been allowed to continue as long as the snow load is monitored and certain reinforcing work is carried on inside the building.

The club has also received a grant to study the feasibility of constructing a new curling rink here.
